

Recognize head lice

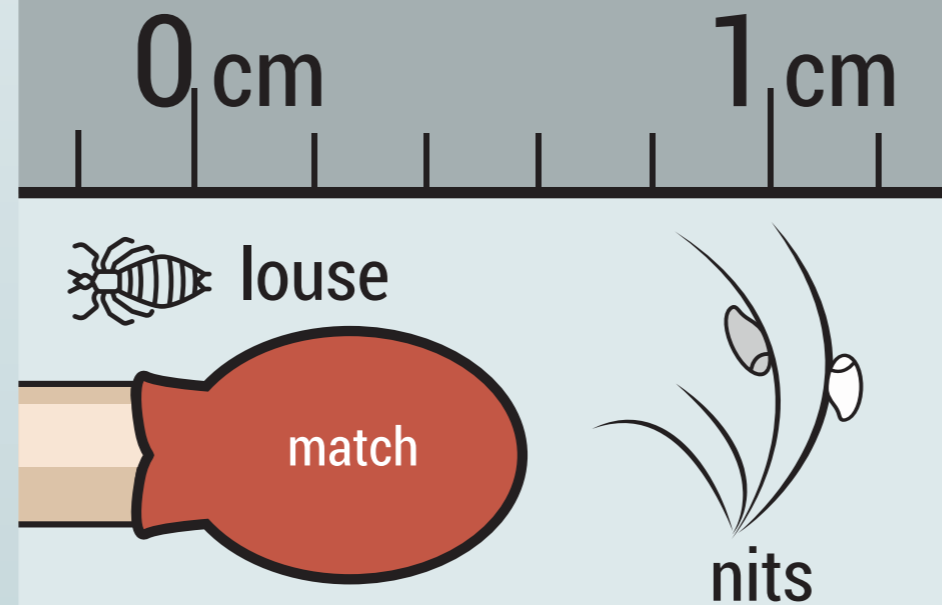

It's in everyone's interest

Itchy scalp?

An itchy scalp can be a symptom of head lice. Anyone can have head lice. Lice crawl on human hair from head to head.

Spotting head lice

The head louse is a moving insect and approximately 3mm long. Lice eggs, called nits, are grey or white dots. They are glued to the hair.

Check others

If you find head lice on one person, then all family members need to be checked for head lice.
